Naturopathic Medicine Is The Best Kept Secret!

About Us

Amanda Lynn Daeges, ND is an alumnus to the country's oldest naturopathic school in Portland, Oregon, the National College of Natural Medicine. Dr. Amanda Lynn has immersed herself in studying or working in alternative medicine for the last decade. She has been licensed in Oregon for 13 years as a massage therapist. Amanda has expanded her studies across the United States; focusing on Clinical Sports Medicine and Master's work in Expressive Arts Therapy in Cambridge, MA., Spa treatments in Lake Tahoe, Energy-Spiritual work in Hawaii, Herbs apprenticeships in Eugene, OR. Amanda's treatments are holistic. Now as a Family Medicine Physician, her work has gone to a new level of finding the cause and correcting the body's dysfunction. "I work by supporting you and your body's innate ability to heal itself with conservative, less toxic and just as powerful treatments." Born and raised in the area, Amanda cares about the wellness of her community and is excited to bring Naturopathic medicine from the old country into your home.

"Before I came to see Dr. Amanda I had a lot of digestive issues. I had tried several different supplements from the health food store, but nothing worked for long. With almost immediate results, I was amazed at how easy it was to feel better! And I didn't even have to have surgery! Dr. Amanda helped me get the toxins out of y body that was keeping it from doing what it was made to do. I feel 100% better!! As a mother of 4 precious children, its so wonderful to enjoy them and feel like doing all the work that goes along with being a mother! I'm even losing some weight! Thank-You, Dr. Amanda!
